

ENIGMA XK : FROM PATROL VESSEL TO EXPEDITION SUPERYACHT

April 27, 2016 by Nicolas Saugnac

Originally built as a fisheries patrol vessel, Enigma XK has the rugged capability needed in a luxury expedition yacht. Her sturdy hull and 7,000 mile range make the most ambitious itineraries possible—even the Northwest Passage.

Up to 12 guests can enjoy Enigma XK's many comforts and spacious interiors.

The Owner's Suite, located just forward of the bridge, has stunning 180-degree views. An expansive upper saloon has dramatic windows that frame the passing scenery, and a small spa pool is located immediately aft of a protected alfresco dining area.

Fin stabilizers help reduce the yacht's motion and several tenders can be used for scuba diving, fishing, and waterskiing.

With the perfect combination of professional crew, speed, endurance and sublime comforts, Enigma XK introduces a new level of luxury and adventure in an expedition yacht.
